IT was currently rumoured this afternoon that the Douglas Co.'s steamer Hailoong had come to grief in the typhoon which has been raging in the Formosa Channel, but all our inquiries. have failed to find confirmation of the report.

A BRUTAL heathen who caught a spirrow yesterday and, for fun, tore off one of its legs was arrested by a Sikh constable and charged with brutally ill-treating the harmless creature. The police proved the case up to the hilt and the culprit, a coolie of 35 years, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or go to gaol for six weeks. He elected to do his "time."

STEAMERS bound northward are still fighting shy of Professor Doberck's typhoon, which is reported to be bent on paying Hongkong a visit of courtesy. And they are wife. Even in matters [30] of navigation, discretion is the better part of valour. Better lose a day lying anug in harbour than risk losing dozens of lives and a valuable

> A FEW days ago a little girl living to the house occupied by Lai Achi, the compradore of the City Hall, in Chung Wo Lane, while attempting to steal some food from an upper versidah, slipped and fell about 40 feet into the yard below, fracturing her skull so badly that death ensued five days later. To-day Mr. Wodehouse held an inquiry into the circumstances and recorded a finding of accidental death.

In the Supreme Court this morning the Acting Poisne Judge, Mr. H. E. THE Peking Gazette of August 4th notifies the 1.-Chang-hau, Governor of Hunan, transerred to Shansi.

2,-Wu Ta-cheng, appointed Governor of 3.--- Chang-lin, - appointed Under Chancellor in the Grand Secretariat, with the rank of a Vice-President in the Board of Ceremonies.

THE Mercury's Chinkiang correspondent writing on August 26th says: - On Wednesday morning when the stenmer Yuensang was near Plover Point; those on board observed a large-native boat, which had been capsized during a recent heavy squall, and which was floating bottom-up some distance from the steamer. A boat was at once sent away from the Yuensang in charge of the chief officer, Mr. Thom, which succeeded in rescuing four men and a woman from the wreck The unfortunate people were taken on board the steamer where they were carefully attended to and subsequently put on board a native boat for conveyance to their homes.

CRUSHED again! We had only got fairly started on our crusade against Volunteer Humbug, a little chapter of local history in which Mr. C. J. Holliday and ex-Captain Francis, Q.C., play- leading roles, when a polite requisition from court very too much intimat friend, Victoria, by the grace, etc., etc., was politely handed to us by a pampered minion at whose execution under solemn circumstances we hop to assist at no far distant date. And as Vicky when she sends her invitations on blue paper of a certain style. Iske "She" in Rider Haggard's sensational novel, must be obeyed, there was no alternative but to give the would-b Volunteer Reformers a holiday, and face the music. It didn't amount to much, but that, as Mr. Rudyard Kipling (a most consummate jackass, by the way) is so fond of saying, is another story. Holl day and Francis had better order a copy of to-morrow's Telegraph early in the day or they may be disappointed, as we only intend printing a thousand extra copies.

CWING to a typhoon in the Formora Channelwhich unwelcome visitor, it is confidently anticipated, is now on a bee-line for Hongkong -the P. and O. Co.'s steamer Aden has been detained in Amoy harbour, and for the time being the Stanley Awfuls have been jurned out to grass. It is very sad—our local mashers have gone into mourning-but even this affliction must be patiently endured. And after all even a typhoon must run its dreary course and after it is dead sick and cons to roost w shall see under the brilliant electric light that serried phaling of grace and beauty n all its pristme-well, yes, glory, being well, and the typhoon permitting. Mr. Harry Stanley's Opera Company wil electrify the play-goers of the colony to-morrow night at the Theatre Royal, City Hall, in "The Mountebanks," and on Saturday night (if Mi Thomas Empson's word may be relied on) the programme will be a regular paraly; er-the diction is Mr. Empson's, not ours Meanwhile we are requested to announce, which we do with cleasure, that seats broked for the performance announced for this evening, hold good for the opening show.

A DANGEROUS species of rocial parasite known as floating hawkers have systematically preyed upon sea-faring men frequenting the waters of this colony for years past. They are "fake" jewellers whose usual residence is in a cellar in Tal-ping-shan or a cork-loft in west-end slum, while their stock-in-trade usually consists of one or two small tin cases partially iled with Brummagem jewellery. As soon as these hawkers get on board a steamer they make their way to the officers' quarters to "trade," and should they fall to paim off on one of them a dollar's worth of ornaments for about twenty Times their real value, they produce their business cards and solicit orders for repairs to jewellery, watches, watch-chains, etc. And that is it reality the chief object of their mission. For as the address on the business-card is false has, in fact, no existence at all, all aftempts to recover property entrusted to these sharpers are absolutely fatile. One of the most and clous of these scoundrels, Wong Achun. where bigus address was No. 60 West Point. but whose real habitation was a basement in Tai-ping-shan, has just been hunted out of the colony by Detective Inspector Stanton, who was on his track owing to a criminal information having been filed against him in respect to a somewhat big swindle in which, mirabile dictu. a pawn-broker came off second best. On the absented's premises the police found and took possession of a couple of small tin boxes filled with falso diamond sings, brass lockets, and a great assortment of gold and silver watches and chains, which now await claimants at the Central Police Station. Applications for missing watches. Islam, and is going to Bombay to organise a watch chains and jowellery should be sent in to Detective Inspector Stanton without delay.

OUR Shanghal morning contemporary bears from a correspondent at Ichang that the river was steady there, though falling rapidly lower. down. A HANDSOME young gun lascar was brought before Mr. Wodehouse at the Police Court this afternoon and charged with committing an indecent assault on a married woman in Wanchai's couple of days ago. The married woman in question stated that the accused committed the assault while the was sitting on door-step and when she went, indoors avoid him he followed and pulled her hair Her statement was corroborated by sold woman. A Sikh constable stated he found the accused surrounded by an excited crowd of Chinese near MacGregor barracks two days ago. The man said the woman assaulted him wit the bamboo produced. Inspector Baker spoke to the woman charging the accused with assault. He said fully two or three hundred followed the accused to the Police Station. He supposed the woman struck "with" the stick and the took it from her. In defence the wiry Indiansaid the woman had only herself to blame, for she assaulted him and when he wanted to give her into custody she ran away and fell down. Result !- $5 or la days hard labour.

WE shall certainly be grigyously disappointed we are not honored in the mystic hereafter with a halo, hard and golden chair, and a seat alongside Elijah. The old spirit of prophecy re share matters on the Hongkong Rialto has not deserted us; "Joss " is still ou our side." Banks have been done to-day at or per cent, premium and there are further buyers at that rate, but mo shares offering. And Punjoms have been bought at as high as $2.25, and they will probably be scarce at double that rate before the end of the month. All readers of the Telegraph have, of course, heard of that wanting ambition which overshoots itself and lands a cropper on the other s'de; that's what the Company's once trusted manager Becher appears to have done. with his allies and supporters in Londonwho are Becher's ailles and supporters in his attempt to get a fast hold on the Jalla mine? that is a question which the shareholders may have to very seriously consider for their own protection—but the game played has been too transparent throughout. There is money in Falls for Punjom sharsholders, if there is any honesty in man. THE REGISTRAR. GENERAL AND THE PO LEUNG RUK DETECTIVE.

Mok Chi is the name of the Po Leung Ku detective who for so many years has faithfull served the Registrar General, and it is he who was so severely censured by Mr. H. E. Wodehouse, Police Magistrate, on July 30th last, for arrogating to himself as a apy runner of the Po Leung Kuk authorities, rights I dinghy blong leity. Go shore can do. and privileges he could never legally claim. He it was who seized a coulle on of the Canton steamers and imprisoned him for 4" hours in a cell, in the Tung Wah Hospital by content of certain Po Leung Kuk magnates, and when the case came before the magistrate Po Loung Kuk authorities, and for the immaculate Mok Chi to particular. Of course the censure of the Bench was districted to many of the Po Lyung Kuk people and possibly even to his Mightimess the Protector of Chinese, and they resented the Magistrate's cri-icisms through the convenient medium of our vening contemporary the China Mail For a while there was, quite a over the Makistrate" exposure of the Po Leung Kirk's, methods of doing good, but it soon died away and would doubtless have been relegated to oblivion had not the Revistrar General seen fit to appoint the censured Mok Chi to the responsible position of Head District Watch. man of this Colony. Now, as the watchmen are all appointed by the Registrar-General, whose minions levy on all Chinese tradesmer for "voluntary contributions" wherewith to keep up the staff, there can be no doubt that ireis to the Rigistrar-General that Mek Chi owes his appointment, which is, in reality, a substantial promotion in defiance of the Magistrate, who formed very accurate opinions of the objectionable nature of the Po Leung Kuk's modes operands and did not hesitate to speak his mind as soon as opportunity offered. For a long time past, it has been dnly too which that the Registrar-General has usurped powers which -would be better invested in the Police; and this last act in promoting Mok Chi is but another proof that the sooner Mr. Stewart Lockbart is made to perform the duties of Registrar General and nothing else the better will it be for the community generally.

IT WAS THE SUN!

This is not a patent medicine advertisement. as might be thought from the heading, but a true story for the special benefit of the Dally

Once upon a time seven brethren dwelt in the City of Dreadful Smell. One was Ewo, and one was Nipsu, and one was Kinchin; and the four others were nobody very much,

And Ewo said unto his brethren-Let us now go and hunt, and shoot, and have a day out, or words to that effect.

And the brethren said that it was good. So they got themselves ready for a long nurney, even a Sabbath day's journey; they took meat and drink, with a strong accent on the drink.

And on the morrow at daybreak they did set forth, and went down to the sea in a great ship, even a Hakka ship ; and the smell thereof was exceeding great. And they did voyage a great way from the City of Dreadful Smell, even unto a bay where are many wild fowl and birds of the air. And Ewo lifted up his voice and spake, saying: -Behold now, this place is good, and the Canton. River bath not a better; therefore, ye sons of Hakke, dump the mudbook and lower away the dingby, that we may go ashore and slay every-

Then Kinchin answered and spake, saying-Hear now, my brethren; and thou also, oh Ewo, give ear unto my prayer. The men of Hakka will take a bally week getting their old sampan ready, wherefore let us in the meantime sample the commissariat.

,And all the brethren said that it was good, So it came to pass that when they had extenand-drunk, especially drunk, the master of the ship drew nigh and spake, saying-Lo, the But an evil suirit had entered the bearts of the seven brithren, and they would not go : for their legs were unsteady, and their tongues clave unto the roofs of their months. And Ewo spake saying; The day is for spent, his and the night comesh when common can the result was an ignominious "rating" for the walk, not if he high a tankful, hic. Let us ow shicen until the morrow.

And the brethien answer d and said-we are all right, we will have a dochandards. So they had a multitude of dochandorries. and said they would not go home till morning. Now it came to pass that while they slep; the sons of Hakka saw that the seven brethren were heavy with winer and the sony of Hakky put the seven brethren into the dinghy, without raiment. nor anything whatenever, sive only the food and the wine which remained; for the children-of Hakka eat not the food nor drink the wine of the Chosen People; far the Celestials cat only mest: that is high, and drink only kernsine and its: kind. Therefore did they stow the grub and the whicky in the dirghy with the seven brethren. Then did they leave the boat with the seven brettren behind the island where men hew stonet and the ship departed and was seen no more in-

On the monow it came to pass that the seven brethren arose, and saw that they were to the soup, or thereabouts. And they took coulded logether, what they should do; for they were ashamed, and their heads were very sore.

And Ewo answered and sald: Behold now. my brethren, we did not well last night; for we went not ashore, neither shot we soy ducks; but we-made merry, and revelled in the flowing bowl until it runneth over; we looked upon the wine when it was red, until all was blue; and now it is a cold morning, in fact a blooming frost. For these Hakka men have gone away in their blanky ten clipper, and taken our clothes, and guns, and money, and everything But Kinchin rebaked him, saying-Nay, but they have left us this dioghy, and meat and drink. For there be five bottles of sods and two sardines. Now Nipsu was a lawyer, and subile, even with the subtlety of the devil. And he lifted up his voice and wept with his brethren, and opened his face, saying-Peradventure these our doings may become known unto all men, and Viey will augh us to scorn. Now therefore, le us tell hem that we slew many thousands o'i birds, so. that our ship sank with the weight of them. And the brethren were glad, and said it was

There is, a broad river some miles in width, flowing northward, on the west side of the Canal, inundating parts; of the districts of Chingho Kuchieng, Chingchon, and Fuchieng, all on the edge of Chihil. To the north of these countles the land is still lower, and is no doubt a vist lake. The district magistrate of the Wu-l country recently undertook to send the silver representing the land-tax to the Privincial Treasury at Paoting. Fu, but after the cares and escer had travelled but forty II, they found it impossible to proceed, and the magistrate of the county into which the silver had pencirated, refused to allow it to remain and it was sent back to the starting point. The logs containing silver of this sort, are most unwelcome visitors to any region, causing district magistrates, innkeepers, and the escorts the utmost anxiety, until safe delivery takes place. Yet no better way seems available than this preposterous transit of bulky silver for hurdgeds, or even thousands of IL.

The locusts: have_disappeared, and the crop of little ones (antre) having been vigorously attacked by officials and by the people, seem for the most part to have gone, their way, and after all the outery, and real danger, the amount of ac ual loss is comparatively slight. There appears never to have been a case of this plague, when the distribution, though so wide, was so uneven. A few regions suffered severely, more but slightly, and some not at all. A general mania for theatricals. Buddhist masses, and the like, seems to have set in all over the country side, even in the very advent of the coming harvest. It is usual, and certainly far more sensible, to wait until the crops are actually in, before celebrating their excellence. It was later than this last year that in many places the worms made serious

.The floods have led to the usual fights between countries and tracts of different level, as to the right to throw up, or to cut into banks. . It is reported that many lives have been lost in one of these encounters, which seems inherently probable, as the passions aroused are of the strongest, and there is absolutely no way to a settlement but through the wager of battle. No one ever expresses surprise at these events, and exactly as they are now, only hitherto there was never any foreigner to observe and report them. The authorities seem long since to have ascertained that there is no belp for them by prevention.-N. C. Daily News.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

August, 23rd, 1892. We have had a long season of dry weather and the heavens still seem to be brass and the earth iron. During July there were occasional showers as also in this month, but it has been about two months since we had any pourit grain. The water in the river and lake and cann's is very shallow. The river seems to be less than half-its ordinary width and the bottom of the lake has come to the surface in a number of places. The water of the lake was further decreased a few days ago by opening the 'sluice in order to supply wa cr to the Halning district. There is an arcle custom or law giving this district the benefit of the lake water when it is needed. In consideration of this the yearly tax on the lake is paid by the district. So a few days ago the officials at Haining sent a regulation to the officials of Hangchow for the selease of the water. Accordingly two of the heavy plinks and thus the surface of the water in the lake Hainlig is at liberty to diffuse itself through I net-work of canalis extending in all directions, reap any appreciable benefit from the release of the waters.

On mentioning this view of the subject to one of our scholarly teachers he maintained with great eart ediness that the water must resen that particular region as the array gement had been made a number of years ago and hid received the Imperial sanction. The same day while crossing the lake the same question was auggested to my boatman and he replied: "Of course very little water reaches Haining, as t spreads ver a large area, but the people there notice that their fields become moist and this

It is only within the past few days that the price of rice has been advanced, and it is said that if we should get rain within ten days the crops will be saved in this section. But we hear that in the hilly regions it is already beyond recovery where the vegetables, too, are drying up. Strange to say the officials here have not interdicted the slaughter of animals for food, and no processions graying for rain have been organised. So far there does not seem to be any epidem's or any serious increase of disease. All the people complain of the great heat this year, which has been greater, their opinion, than for many years past, Thus their predictions and their fears have been confirmed, as they were expressed by a friend of mine soon after the Imperial almanaci was issued and it was known that there would staying in the premises of the Hwei Chow be two "sixth moons" this year. Shanhaing, 24th August, 1892. Degenerate as Lamaism has grown, and ignorant cheats and designing jugglers as its priests bave become, yet, strange to say, it still holds its place as a mighty factor in the religious life, of the people.
